Customer Reviews

I don't generally write reviews, but this is probably the coolest coloring book I have ever come across. I've even made copies before starting a picture just so that I am able to color a single page more than once. The pictures are one-sided (as in the backs are blank) which is awesome for those who like to use markers.

This book is part of Dover's Creative Haven Series which differs from the other coloring books in that a drawing is one ONE side of the page and the back is empty. That way you can pull it out and start colouring on it immediately. I don't do that, because I make some copies and rough variations before settling down to the real colours but I do like it that when I do I don't have to worry about "choosing" which page for the final view. This book is wonderful thing by one of my favorite artists in the Dover lineup, Jessica Mazurkiewicz. I think she's done a really outstanding job here with my only regret that Dover did not give us more of her work for inspiration. Still the few that they did is glorious and I found myself looking and thinking about how to change, copy, improvise with what she did. Really a lot of fun, for the space cadet in all of us.

I picked this book because I have a 9 year old son who is not interested in many coloring books or arts and craft kits because they are either too young for his interests, or are often aimed at girls (too pretty/flowery/etc). He is also VERY interested in space, science, and geology. This book is a nice mix of cool space oriented designs, and beautiful fantasy. Highly recommended.

Because of the coloring book craze during the holidays, I decided to give everyone in my family one to suit their particular tastes. I searched high and low for this one for a 12-year-old boy who's nuts for everything space related. I was so happy to find it! As each person opened their coloring book (wolves for my father, owls for my sister, classic cars for my uncle, etc.), I could see him wondering what his would be. I loved the look of delight on his face when he finally opened it! Creative Haven coloring books are excellent in general and this one is no exception. If you're not into space, I'm not sure how interesting it would be, but if you enjoy the planets, you'll like this coloring book.

This book is pretty good. The images are of planets, asteroids, and swirls printed on one side of the page. The paper is perforated which is standard for Creative Haven books. This is my first book by Jessica Mazurkiewicz, Most of the images take up most of the page so there is a lot to color. If you like the cover, you will probably like the book. Great for the price too.

If you love the solar systems you will love coloring this book. I bought this for my 11 year old grandson, and it was a hit. You can be as creative with your colors as you wish. I would definitely buy this book again for a gift.

If you are not familiar with the Dover Creative Haven coloring book series, let me just recommend this series off the bat. The paper is thick and good quality (for a coloring book) and each page is printed on only one side so you don't have to worry about any bleed through (though the paper is thick enough that this is not a big problem). The art in this book is some of the best, there is a good amount of detail and nice bold lines. If you find the cover art appealing and interesting expect more of the same in this book.

I like to color with gel pens, but I think this coloring book is more suited for coloring pencils or markers. There is just too much empty space which uses up the gel ink. Some of the pictures are pretty cool looking, but my 4-yr old has more fun coloring it than I did. I find that a lot with Creative Haven...most of the "adult" coloring books are more suited for kids.
